

This book is dedicated to all my Christian Family and Friends. I love you and I hope I say something to make you think. And to the only pastor that I have ever had, the late great, Apostle Johnnie L. Washington. Thank you for everything and thank you for not letting me play the drums unless I was in bible school.

Introduction

Where is he?... 1Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, 2Saying, where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.

This was one of my favorite texts to preach from, the Gospel According to Matthew 1:1-2 Where is he? And this Sunday was unlike most Sundays, because today was Christmas Sunday. There was an extra excitement in the air. To add to the excitement, Pastor Grayson came with several of his members to worship with us. For this I was very grateful. Also, in attendance was Dr. Thomas, who was a friend and fellow minister that attended another church. Dr. Thomas was a brilliant man and I really wanted him to teach in our bible school.

Just like in most black churches that I knew of, after service was a time for fellowship. There always seems to be a cluster of worshippers enjoying the energy of each other company. The conversation was mostly based around the experiences they had just had in service, the welfare of their Christian brothers and sisters and the contemplation of that most important question...where are we going to eat?

However, this Sunday most of us knew we were going home to eat, because it was Christmas. Anything else would have resulted in mere heart failure of the kids. It didn't seem to matter how many times we stressed to them that Jesus was the reason for the season. Or that he was coming back again real soon. They had only been waiting for the next coming of Santa. By now it was 1pm and Santa had already showed up. So, their only question was....is it time to go yet?

Of course, gathered in one of the fellowship clusters was myself, Dr. Thomas, Pastor Grayson and two of my bible school teachers. Doc, you really preached this morning" Pastor Grayson said. My response to her was the typical

"Bless you Pastor, thank you, to God be the glory". I went on to say" you know, I have a special love for the gospels and especially for the book of Matthews."

"Why?" She asked.

I said, "because it breaks down the genealogy of Jesus... shows him coming down thru 42 generations from the line of David."

"I like the Book of Matthews too" Dr. Tomas interjected.

"Why?" I asked. Dr. Thomas responded by saying,

"Because it proves that Jesus was black."

"BLACK!" The rest of us simultaneously said. This made Dr. Thomas chuckle at little.

"Yes black," he said, smiling and looking over his wire framed school boy glasses. I had heard that before. However, at that time it had been put on my mental back burner. It was in great company with a list of other questions, I had not had the opportunity to address. I said to him, "How do you know that?"

"It's right there in the Bible," he said. "It's right there in the same 2nd chapter of Matthew you were just preaching from, in the 13th and 14th verses".

He began to quote it, "And when they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appeareth to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word: for Herod will seek the young child to destroy him.

14When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night and departed into Egypt: 15And was there until the death of Herod: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my son."

He went on to say, "Egypt is in Africa; if he was going to Egypt to hide and blend in... he must look like the other Egyptians."

I must admit I had never looked at it like that before. Then I thought about it and said, Well heck! That means that everybody in the old testament was black too. Even the 12 tribes of Israel.

Well, then I said, "with all due respect, who's the white boy on the church fans, and hanging on my mother's living room wall, in between the velvet pictures of Dr. King and JFK." Who's the white boy in the stained-glass windows, and walking on water, riding the clouds... Oh My God!... who is the white boy on the cross?

Then on second thought, I said to myself... "EGYPT!" "Wait a minute", I said to everybody. "If the book of Exodus commands us to come out of Egypt, how could it then be acceptable to go back into where God delivered us from?"

To me these questions demanded answers. These questions or (*quest-i-on*s*) would no longer be placed in the background. Time had promoted them, and they were now the focus. I wanted to know who did this, how did they do it, when did they do it, how many people knew about it, what else have they changed and most of all, "why" did they do it.

This thirst for knowledge, wisdom and understanding which was shut up in my bones, had been there since grade school. I never walked the same way to school twice in a row. I wanted to know, what was down the other streets. How do those houses look? I wondered if they had more red doors, then brown doors. If there were, more cars parked on the left side of the street than there was on the right side. Or just what discoveries I was going to make for taking a different route home from school.

So, by the time I became an adult and actively engaged in ministry the scriptures were my passion. Reading the bible was like a big bowl of Ice cream. The more I ate it, the more I wanted it. And I wanted to share it with people, like ooh! Taste this...please.

I would take issue with Christians that said they loved the word, but they never read it; we won't even talk about studying the word. It would get me so upset to hear people say, "all I know is that John 3:16 says that God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son and whosoever believed on him shall not perish but have everlasting life." I thought this was just totally unacceptable. How could you have such a great gift and know nothing about it. To me they were like the church in Laodicea, Just lukewarm, neither hot nor cold. And they deserved to be spat out of the mouth of God.

Dr. Thomas's Jesus must be black statement, slapped me out of 1985 back to 1974. For a brief moment, I found myself back in Brooklyn, hanging out on the basketball court in the Cypress Hills projects. This is where the kids from Cypress Hills projects and the surrounding blocks would meet every Saturday morning to play basketball.

This Saturday was a little different because my best friend had converted to the "Five Percenter" religion. To my surprise, when I greeted him with the usual, "What's up Paul", he went out of his way to say that it was no longer his name since he became a five Percenter. In the fashion of Abram to Abraham, Jacob to Israel, Simon to Peter and Saul to Paul, we now had a Paul to Sun Born Allah.

Paul a.k.a. Sun Born Allah had been studying his religion's lesson sheets which he referred to as "today's mathematics". He went on to share that according to his lesson sheets, the white man was the devil and the black man was a god and the original man.

I could hardly bare to listen to what he was saying. I was starting to get sick because of this nonsense. I thought to myself, how could he be so deceived into thinking that the white man is the devil and that the black man was the original man; when clearly “Adam and Eve” were white.

I lost my best friend that Saturday morning in 1974. However, I left the basketball court that day determined that no one would ever know more about their “fake religion” than I knew about my “true religion” and my savior Jesus Christ. However, something about Dr. Thomas’s black Jesus made a connection with Paul’s (Sun Born Allah) the black man is the original man, over more than a decade ago.

It has been 30 years since that Christmas morning and the “full revelation” is yet to be revealed. However, every day we are becoming more and more enlighten. This is happening, simply by the fact, that we are alive today. You may or may not know this, but the consciousness of our planet is changing. This consciousness shift is not limited to, our planet, but is being experienced in our whole solar system. We are here on the cusp of an event, which is the divine plan of God.

The Enlightenment that you are experiencing is due to the fact that, our solar system, has moved into a new neighborhood in space. This is what happens at the end of every age. You just so happen to be alive at the end of the age known as Pisces. So yes, you are living in the last days. And we are now picking up vibrations and light code configurations, directly from the Milky Way and other constellations in this new age, the age of Aquarius.

Future history will show that those awakening up to this enlightenment will be known as the first fruits.

Dr. J.W. Winborne

DIVINE DECEPTION

Whose conscious level experienced the “rapture” and the “second coming” of Christ consciousness.

This may be hard to grasp at first. History shows that often new enlightenment is rejected, laughed at and often ridiculed. It is written in the book of John, when referring to Christ and the work of Christ; that men prefer darkness rather than light. Men would rather hold on to apparent misunderstandings than to receive new knowledge that would call into question their old belief system.

What you will find on these pages are questions. Some people might find them to be blasphemous, some will say, it is apostasy at its very worst. Others will say, we are surely living in the last days and the end of time. On one level I would agree with them. That is if, I was viewing the questions from the perspective of organized religion.

I would agree that it is blasphemous, from the perspective that it challenges Christian dogma. Which is absolutely prohibited. I would also agree that it is apostasy at its very worst, because it challenges the identity of the very one, we have grown to love, worship, and adore. And recognize as the Savior of the World.

We have loved him from his birth in the manger... when there was no room at the inn. We stood by and wept, as we imagined how awful it must have been to carry that cross to Calvary. We shook at the very thought, of how they beat the flesh off his back, as he suffered through the most horrific and brutal whipping. Then hung! On the very cross he had to carry and was “assassinated” that you and I might receive salvation. And most of all, we’ve thanked him for rising, that early Sunday morning, victorious with all power, giving us the right to eternal life. Proclaiming, oh death, where is thy sting, oh Grave, where is thy victory?

And I would say yes, we are surely living in the last days, and the end time. I would even go as far to say, that you have lived in the last days, and you have experienced the end of a time, or a period of time. And you are now moving into the new days, of a new time period, known as the age of Aquarius, according to the Roman Greco calendar

Paul said, in all of your getting, get an understanding. Then he told Timothy in his 2nd letter to study, show yourself approved unto God. A workman that needs not to be ashamed, but RIGHTY dividing the words of truth.

It became painfully obvious to me that there had been some errors in the division of the word. Some of the things that were taught concerning religious beliefs were not adding up or making proper connections. And then there were some things that totally went against what I had been taught to believe. But, if I was honest with myself, some things that I was taught not to believe, made absolutely good command sense to me.

Dr. J.W. Winborne

DIVINE DECEPTION

So, you must ask yourself, what should I do? Should I continue to honor and stand by my Christian teachings that were handed down to me through my family, and social structure? Which was also, handed down to them through their family, and social structure, for the pass 2,160 yrs. Should I at least investigate, the thing that seems to bear witness with my spirit and confirms my logical reasoning?

I decided to go ahead and investigate, but I knew I would have to open my mind if I wanted the truth. What do I mean by that? Well, I understood that, I must maintain a willingness to not hold any preconceived understanding as absolute. And I must have the courage, to examine my very core beliefs, no matter what they were.

I remember praying and saying, God, you know my heart, and you know that there is no malice in it. And you said in your word, to try the word, prove it, and examine it, line upon line, precept upon precept. And if I'm wrong, for investigating this information... then please forgive me, because I am only seeking truth. And I sure don't want to go to hell.

What started out as a simple research on the historical origins of Jesus Christ, turned into something far greater. It was more intriguing than I could have ever imagined. I thought I already knew, the Jesus in the bible. What I wanted to know was, what has history said about him.

What I found out lead me to say, Wow! How did they do that? When I researched how they did that, I said; stop playing, well, how long has it been that way? And then, they did what? I would research the, what they did and say, impossible, impossible, too many people would have had to know.

Why isn't it common knowledge, and why, is it a secret? And it turns out that, what I knew as truth, became utterly exposed, as lies, misconceptions and misdirection. Perpetrated upon the masses to stage the grand illusion of the age, right in front of our faces.

I have now come to realize, that what I believed, was so far from the truth, that now, it cannot even be imaginable. As Dr. A. Wolfs Says, "what I thought was unreal, seems in some ways to be more real than what I think to be real, which seems now more to be unreal".

Some time ago I was sitting in a church service, where the person speaking begin to tell us that, God had revealed to them, whom the anti-Christ is. And with all righteous indignation said," Ronald Wilson Reagan!" They went on to say, "God showed it to me last night. This Revelation revealed that, the number of his name was 666. It was right there in front of us, the name Ronald has six letters, the name Wilson has six letters and the name Reagan had six letters. Perfect, it was right there, 666. I think that the one I find most entertaining, is Barak Hussein Obama.

In the Christian community it has always been an ongoing investigation as to who or what the Anti- Christ is. We had concluded, based on the narrative given to us in the Bible, that the Antichrist was a political/religious leader. One that ruled the masses, one that had control over the lives of people.

Dr. J.W. Winborne

We understood that the character was of a European descent. We understood that he would come out of the European union, and that the European Union had a direct connection to the Catholic Church in Rome. We understood that the Roman Catholic Church somehow played a role in the incarnation of the Anti-Christ. Whether directly or indirectly there was a relationship between the Anti-Christ and the Roman Catholic Church.

One of the things taught to me in Bible school was that the Roman Catholic Church was the Whore of Babylon, that was spoken of by the Apostle John, in the apocalyptic story of Revelation. This took no stretch of the imagination, because it fits into the narrative of all of the things, we perceive to be wrong, that was taught by the Catholic Church.

As far as we were concerned, being a member of the Roman Catholic Church would send you to hell. Because of their gross infraction of the word of God, starting with a worship of Mary as the Virgin Mother of Jesus. We stood on the Scripture that man is not supposed to have any graven images for which it worshiped and praying to Mary was a violation of the Scripture.

That infraction was compounded by the referring to the priest as father, because the scriptures says, called no man father. In addition, the idea of a confession, and a confession booth, to tell another man your sins, that claim to have the power to forgive your sins; well, that was also a gross infraction of the Scriptures. And we were annoyed by the idea that they had Saints that we had never heard of.

Our opposition to these saints, was because they were not in the Bible and a part of the narrative. So, they had no right to be recognized as a saint. Except for Mother Teresa, of course, we liked her. We were also concerned about the pomp and circumstance, that went along with the Sunday mass. Those elaborate rituals, and gold ornaments, all appeared to be excessive. Which in our minds was a contradiction to the message of Jesus. We understood that Jesus was a humble man that rode into town on a mule. He was born in a barn and slept in a feeding bucket for goats.

All these things combined, left us with the impression that the Catholic Church was the bad guy, which was proven by the "worship of Mary". This was the foundation for the separation from the Catholic Church. Why? Because they worshipped Mary as well as Jesus. Jesus was the one who died on the cross and was resurrected, that you and I might be saved. And Mary didn't do anything but give birth to the baby Jesus.

Disagreements with the Catholic Church were solidified in the 1300s, by a fellow named of John Wycliffe. John Wycliffe, an Oxford theologian, was considered a forerunner of the "Protestant Reformation". He targeted immoral clergymen and considered the Catholic church the "root of corruption". Wycliffe's, translation of the Bible into English was the beginning of the pulling away from the Roman Catholic church dogma.

Dr. J.W. Winborne

DIVINE DECEPTION

The reformation of the 1300s was a progenitor of organized religion as we know it today outside of the Roman Catholic Church. Although we still accept all of the characters as presented to us in Catholicism, we reject the relationship and all spiritual/divine importance of their existence. However, out of our ignorance, he blindly accepted any and everything that was presented to us in the narrative as it pertained to Jesus.

So, even if the other characters were wrong, and all their characteristics and personalities had been corrupted by Catholic dogma, it was Jesus the Christ that died for our sins. How could we move away from the fact that God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son. And whosoever, believed on him, would not perish, but have everlasting life.

We never asked ourselves, how could the whore of Babylon be truthful in any of its dissertations. Even though we knew and understood that the whore of Babylon was the Catholic church and was responsible for presenting this information in their dogma, could it be honest and upright concerning the son of God, the entity known as Jesus of Nazareth's a.k.a. Jesus Christ.

We must ask ourselves, is it possible, that the very Jesus, we have worshiped, prayed to, believed in, sang about, testified of, engaged in evangelism for, have tattooed on our bodies, images of him on jewelry that hang about our necks, could be the anti-Christ that we have been searching for.

Is it possible that Jesus is the antichrist, hidden in our faces the whole time for the last 2000 years? Have we seen the most elaborate bait and switch scam ever perpetrated in history, which victimize our whole humanity.

The details of the bait and switch are complicated and illusionary. To fully understand the total scope of the deception, you would have to have more than just a basic understanding of the Bible, and in particular the New Testament. As we begin to pull the layers off this mass deception, it is important to recognize the players involved and their roles as presented to us in the Christian narrative.

I now invite you to come and take a journey with me. A journey that is going to take us through the wonders of Geometry and Quantum Physics, the Splendor of Space and the Mysteries of Histories. The who, where, why, what and when of the history of the Christian construct.

For the last 30 years my Christian family, friends and loved ones that I have known from growing up I church, have always asked me, why. Why you left the church? Why you don't preach anymore? Do you still teach? So, what church you go to now? I know you still believe in Jesus, don't you? You believe the bible, don't you?

None of these questions could be properly addressed or answered at the bus stop or aisle 3 in Shoprite. What you will find inked on these pages are my answers to some of these questions and more.
