PREFACE

INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY

We, the authors, Paul Amrod and Ellias Aghili have decided to continue our legacy in poetry. This legacy is reflected in this poem we have created hoping for a golden age of pluralism. With the synergy of Orion and his Protégé Captain A with the sage of Ysa Land Yimina will now bring them to a summit on Earth. The usage of radio telescopic communication becomes essential for the transmission of their philosophy which makes the Dorsay, the evil tribe of extraterrestrials nervous because it logically presents the great possibility of peace and the end of darkness in the hands of diabolical forces. Eventually they arrive through a return voyage into the Solar System to save Earth from its possible demise. Greed, permanent war and the defilement of the wonders of Earth itself will be annihilated. Yimina through the help of benevolent Earthlings will be presented on You Tube and this begins the dismantling of the ancient power structures which are so injurious to the human race.

ADVENTURES OF TWO CAPTAINS A MODERN EPIC POEM
The Second Sequel- Return from Ysa Land to the Solar System.

The continuation of this poem begins with their adventures in the Paradise of Ysa Land.

Ellias begins once again

I.

Ysá land is abounded with lights
from a thousand brilliant stars.
Lanterns of the dreadful nights
are dancing in leviathan quasars.

The poem is again a bastion of imagery and philosophy initiating a constant movement of images and actions. The style both poets blend in a way that creates a nice variable style. Paul wrote the even-numbered verses and Ellias the odd-numbered verses. Paul's fourth verse starts as such

Then miraculously appeared the sage Yimina
who blessed all for their lust for adventure?
He spoke gently cantos to express and capture the attention of every single being and Amina.

Plans were being discussed about further travel
Notwithstanding the fervor of Black Star's arrival
The insatiable desire of Orion was to unravel
the mystery of enduring universal survival.

A wonderful descriptive text depicts the paradisaal land of Ysa.

For the keepers of Ysá Land hold the essence of life.
They are the Fathers of the Higgs Boson, ancestors of a chained creation that is omnipresent and rife apparent since mankind became rampant and murderously killed and fired missiles and drones from their command centers.

Ysa Land is However, isolated because of its distance situated two parallel universes further away than the Milky Way. Therefore, King Burnett of Ysa Land and Captain A conjure a theory of bettering the radio telescopes with special minerals to stretch through parallel universes.

A stanza of Paul's then says in the 8th Verse

All of sudden he deemed this to be simply corrected by strengthening the baud of the original transmission. Solving this problem would define the mobility of the Yesians in that they could express their theories and describe their mission.

As well in the 10th verse

Captain A experienced the generosity of each habitat The ancient problem of being enclosed was to disappear. The competence of their communitive powers as diplomats would flourish bringing their philosophy to every ear.

The establishment of a field of radio telescopes dispatching their direct intuitive messages would be able to reach Semjase with the hope of collaboration and a synergetic atmosphere.

The healing waves of a sympathetic scope would enhance the comprehension of sages who further the philosophy which adheres? the tribes of Ysá Land through the rock of ages.

A beautiful picture of Ysa Land is painted by Ellias as they begin to fly to assemble rare mineral to strengthen the telescopes.

The vast evergreen farms in this paradise breathe and dance while an inter-solar wind gently kisses them. From the great Black Star, we witness deeply beneath the scenery, where there is imagery, a stage of slumber called rem!

Later on, Captain Orion and James then spoke with Captain A regarding the answers from Burnett he received.

He conferred explaining the parameters of the whereabouts and uncloaked the positions where the cherished minerals were to be retrieved.

Beneath them they then viewed larger farms of ancient oak embedded in very dense woodlands forming a gigantic knot.

Then Paul ends the first chapter with this stanza

The precious stones were all gathered and ready for loading
Very sturdy sacks were brought along for the proper hauling.
James returned firstly to Black Star to record the coding of each unearthed treasure discovered for immediate recalling.

Now the communication was sent out and received by the Pleadians and as well the Dorsay was outraged at the potential of Yimina and Orion's mastery of the Word.

This event was the preparation for an English translation to be sent through the powerful radio waves past black holes to cluster Pleiades.

There Semjase would graciously welcome them as the first recipient of the new philosophical phrases which would exciting forge pathways of compassion, solitude, and empathy encircling all with a heartfelt testament

Please unite and persevere the angelic purpose of our existence.

Holding the hands of the fearful as they crave to nurture the slaves of the elite who dominate our quintessence.

The rebirth of our culture is at hand as we praise our Nature which holds us in balance perceiving our presence.”

Chapter Two depicts a wonder star of youth which gives the immortality that Yimina possesses.

Then they successfully reach their friends they met on their journey to Ysa Land Queen Dalina, Princess Anne and the others.

With expedience the entourage with Queen Dalina was emblematic of the credence and trust Orion received depicting the solidarity necessary for the omission of zealousness with an absence of frenetic behavior exchanging constructive concepts omitting the chaotic.

Orion wished to win the earnestness of Derlon for clarity.

Also, in Chapter Three we confront a tragedy of Hector in Xavica with Princess Anne.

Therefore, James aware of their tendencies wished to mount an intelligent defense with a three hundred and sixty grade circumference putting into place a warning system which would be detecting every movement of obvious aggression. James and the Captains have had the tradition and experience to erase the dangers of unexpected calls of battle in gradual steps of succession.

However, Yimina rematerializes Hector on Ysa Land where he assists the glorious journey with King Burnett. Chapter Four is the culmination of the great assemblage of all benign extraterrestrials in the asteroid belt.

The arrival in the Solar System.

With the help of hidden radio telescopes in the land of Ardean they successfully, although being confronted from evil forces, reach the asteroid belt and they communicate directly with Earth. The compatriot was Daniel a worker at Owen Valley's telescope park who worked with James Turell the light magician to confront the authorities secretly on Earth.

The first message was sent to Daniel Smith who from Owen Valley relayed the essence to Houston notifying NASA. This breaking news was suddenly confirmed and the stage was set for the raising of the white flag. The result was alarmingly effective and immediately the other space authorities of Russia, China and England then rashly and obediently followed suit being caught with little knowledge of this incredible development.

This sequel is so exciting that I wish not to reveal more about this epic poem. We wish you all much pleasure with each passing stanza.

Chapter One

Tutto l'amore e la pace

I.

Ysá land is abounded with lights
from a thousand brilliant stars.
Lanterns of the dreadful nights
are dancing in leviathan quasars.

No signs of caustic remarks of the mundane way of life.
Instead there's Glasir's sparks and the shepherds' sound of the fife.

In center stand the Ysá's halls fulgent and great.
Its bulwarks taller than the Vallhall's walls Tranquility their nature does create.

Smaller halls with trees are filled like a choir singing the song of peace.
Mystic birds fly over the field
A worldly niceness they do release.

Antheia shines with glory
Giving life to its evergreen home Complaining about the life so gory when our spirits are sadly alone.

Replete with an elixir of joy
as the green bushes sang
No signs of felons, the victims decoy
the serpents and their fang.

II.

"All love and peace"
whispered Captain Orion calmly
Not a single sign of earthly caprice while all stood jovially and jolly.

Who would the constable meet?
in this land of wonders?
Maybe a group of wizardry elite,
the owners of the raining thunders.

Maybe the harbingers of a galaxy or some ancient clan could correct the world's fallacy and save lives with a cosmic plan.

A rich laconic speech was given by our sage.
Being grateful for he did reach
Ysá, there all pains he would assuage.

Now are gathered all the clans
All the friends of light
Emerther and Egarot with their wands of pecans
As well the council of five chanted in delight

III.

The chorus song echoed all over the place
Still singing some unknown verse, Signs of wonder on Captain A's face as in this ballade he did immerse.

Captain Orion bristled with joy
as he received a message from Semjase.
Thanking the skippers for they were not coy and mentioned that helping us she does enjoy.

A message from Johannes was sent Delivered via the spirit of the night
Orion opened to read the content with eyes all glowing with light.

Lord of Nurembia congratulated the captains for reaching their goal.
By his kindness the crew was saturated truly the Nurembic couple was given a noble soul.

All of a sudden, the song's tone changed and a cool breeze from the main hall blew!
Everything was well arranged
Who would come out of the chamber? No clue!

IV.

Then miraculously appeared the sage Yimina
who blessed all for their lust for adventure?
He spoke gently cantos to express and capture
the attention of every single being and Amina.

Plans were being discussed about further travel
Notwithstanding the fervor of Black Star's arrival
The insatiable desire of Orion was to unravel
the mystery of enduring universal survival.

Avoiding the transient passing to a quasar
he conceived a theory of the youth of stars.
Always concentrating on an inborn intensity reflecting the concept of an inert revival.

Hence, he analyzed the movement of drifting colors,
whether blue or red, focusing on density.
Captain A was also fascinated at the diverse possibilities to meet various engaging avatars.

These spirits could view through Brahma years to detect the age of any particular universe.
All galaxies were expanding or contracting nearing the necessity of rebirth enacting.

These principles seem to always adhere while Ysá land seemed to resonate permanence causing the usual circumstance to disappear reflecting its incredible balance and Godly providence.

Perhaps a microcosm of an ethereal substance can truly bind its matter to be acting in a constant manner of rejuvenation in spheres of the inexplicable with peace transacting.
